VINCOTECH GMBH: DEDICATION OF NEW HEADQUARTERS IN UNTERHACHING - MUNICH

Housewarming party for new offices of Vincotech in Unterhaching

Munich, Germany – December 08, 2008 – The Vincotech GmbH, an internationally operative Gores Group company and trusted provider of power modules and other technologies used in industrial, solar and GPS applications, celebrated just now in November the dedication of their new offices in Unterhaching near Munich together with customers and business partners. The guests experienced an impressive evening with first class live music and close-up magic.

After the divestiture of the former Electronics Modules division from Tyco Electronics to The Gores Group end of 2007, it was necessary for Vincotech to move to a new location as well. As a stand-alone company Vincotech designs and produces electronic devices for industrial drives, solar power generation and telematics applications. Since August the company is now headquartered near by Munich, but the production site are still in Shenzen (China) and Bicske (Hungary). The new offices in Unterhaching, incl. a laboratory to design GPS modules and telematics platforms, add up to about 2000 sqm, which offer plenty of room for Vincotechs' approx. 70 employees and the possibility of further expansion. "Unterhaching is the ideal location for us: innovative, achievement oriented, young and dynamic," gives Rainer Sendrowski, General Manager of Vincotech Group, as the reasons which militated in favour of this new location. Lessor of the four-story office building with 13.500 sqm of rentable space at Biberger Straße 93 is a fund of Citigroup Property Investors represented by Metis Asset Management GmbH, Munich. For additional information: www.metis-am.de
